BRITISH GIRL STOWAWAY ON ARMY SHIP HERE

Unload Liner—Striking longshoremen refused to unload the liner Queen Elizabeth in New York harbor so soldiers of the 833d Port Company, stationed at the Brooklyn Army Base, were called into action. Here they unload the mail and baggage which came over with 15,000 troops

GI English Bride Stowaway to Hub

A pretty English girl, said to be the wife of an American soldier, was today's stowaway surprise as the first of 10 transports—bringing 10,400 troops—arrived here from Europe. She was aboard the SS Irving McDowell and when discovered by port authorities gave her name as Mrs. Donesse Nancy Kuhn of Warwickshire, England. Immigration authorities stated they believed her husband was one of the 2093 Army personnel on board.

Immigration authorities immediately began an investigation of the girl's status.

The unusual arrival was the first time in this war that a bride has sought to come home to this port with her husband "the hard way." Two young boys had been stowaways and their cases have been under investigation for many weeks. Neither of them has been deported.

While the Irving McDowell debarked troops at the Army Base, the SS Winchester Victory nosed into Commonwealth Pier with nearly 2000 troops, including 185 New Englanders, and tied up directly behind the Army transport Wakefield, which was delayed in carrying 6643 replacement troops back to Europe. Damaged condensers were blamed for the delay and sailing now is scheduled for this afternoon.

On board the Winchester Victory were 14 Netherlands Marines, brought here by Lt. Com. J. M. Hellenius, USN. They are bound for Washington where they will be trained and eventually sent with other units to the Dutch East Indies.

Also on board was Cpl. Saul Blotcher of Morris ave., Roxbury, who boasts 4½ years of foreign service, most of it with Gen Terry Allen's "Timberwolves." He wears the Bronze Star Medal for heroic action from North Africa to Germany and is due for discharge.

HOUSEKEEPING—Deciding to seek health in sunny California, Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Gilbert of Nine packed up and moved. Not wanting to leave anything behind they rented a boxcar and stowed themselves, furniture and 'em friends aboard. As they pass through Chicago, Gilbert giving his cows some lunch. Mass Arrests of Movie Strikers By 200 Deputies

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10 (AP)—A massed picket line at Warner Bros. studio was dispersed today by approximately 200 armed deputy sheriffs armed with machine guns and the officers began arresting movie strikers on charges of unlawful assembly.

More than 350 pickets were surrounded by deputies who descended on the scene in five trucks. There was no violence.

"I hereby declare this an unlawful assembly. I hereby command you in the name of the people of California to disperse."

The pickets refused to disperse and officers closed in, took them into the studio and began booking them.

Both sides issued defiant statements in the seven-month old strike which has resulted in injuries to more than 100 persons since Friday.

Herbert Sorrell, leader of the A. F. of L. conference of studio unions, made this statement before the deputies arrived:

"There may be a few goons try to crack this line. Remember they're hired thugs getting 50 bucks a day. But let 'em through. You'll be arrested but there'll be ten to twenty thousand pickets here tomorrow, because we're closing down Lockheed. Don't hit anybody. I'm doing this to preserve order."

Other Strikes At a Glance

Other strikes today:

COAL — Showdown expected in government sponsored conferences aimed to settle critical coal strike as Secretary Schwellenbach ready to offer compromise to union and operators; 749 mines closed, 182,000 workers off job, steel production sags.

LUMBER—No major developments in walkout of 61,700 AFL lumber workers in five Pacific northwest states.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—All troopships in New York harbor were returning to Europe empty today as Army authorities called in troops to help unload and reload the giant ueen Elizabeth.

The paralyzing 11-day strike of stevedores and dock workers almost prevented unloading the Elizabeth, carrying 15,000 troops, ntil the Army in an emergency measure, ordered GI stevedores on the job.

The War Shipping Administration said all Victory ships had been ordered to return to Europe empty, so troops can be returned as quickly as possible. Vitally needed fod and other cargo must wait, the WSA said.

The New York port of embarkation said it expected Washington would order soldier stevedores to take over on all returning ships.

OPA Ex-Official Admits Bribes

BRIDES AND BABIES—To be reunited with their GI husbands who returned some time ago, these French brides and their babies arrive in Philadelphia from Europe. They came over with a group of 35 French wives of American soldiers on the S. S. Edward Hintos.

Navy Hits Army Argentine Rule

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 10 (AP)—The army ruled Argentina today after forcing the resignation of the Vice-President, Col. Juan Domingo Peron, but the navy was reported demanding that the entire government quit and turn the nation over to the supreme court.

The situation was confused, but this much was clear: Gen. Edelmiro Farrell, head of the military regime, still is President, but he takes his orders from Gen. Eduardo Avalos, commander of the big Campo de Mayo garrison in suburban Buenos Aires, whose personal quarrel with Peron brought about the military's demand for the latter's resignation.

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (INS)—Gov. Uyeda of Yamaguchi prefecture, arriving in Tokyo today to present his resignation, reported farmers in his area were rioting for rice. Similar disturbances were reported from Kyushu.

Pier Strike Perils British Pantries

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Britain's worst dock strike in 20 years continued to spread today despite a food ministry warning tying up food ships for a few days more would result in a sharp cut in the nation's already meager table supplies.

At least 45 ships loaded with thousands of tons of meat, bacon, cheese, butter, lard and oranges are among 300 vessels lying idle in ports from London to North Ireland as a result of the unauthorized walkout of 33,000 dock hands.

Million in Jap Bullion Amid Debris of Mint

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Tramping over and around a million dollars in gold and silver, Maj. Gen. William Chase and his staff inspected the bomb-shattered Tokyo mint today.

Impounded by the Allies, a huge stock of bullion is piled helter-skelter in yards filled with debris.

Within the few buildings still standing, heaps of gold, silver and platinum, in bars, were stored. Silver waiting to be melted down included beautifully wrought goblets, spoons and decorative pieces of all kinds, brought in by Jap civilians under orders of their wartime government.

In one storage building there was only "hip-room" passage between heaps of bullion and silverware. Scattered here and there were dull bars resembling big candy sticks.

They were gold bullion, worth, said Gen. Chase, about $10,000 apiece.

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP)—A parade of 600 Japanese, waving red flags, snarled traffic in front of Gen. MacArthur's headquarters today in the climax of the first free political gathering in Japan since the outbreak of the war.

The assembly, celebrating release of 16 political prisoners from Fuchu prison, heard many appeals for abolition of the Japanese imperial throne.

The celebrants, massed before Allied headquarters, roared "Banzai!" time after time for the Americans who had ordered release of the political leaders. Their backs were turned to the Imperial Palace, just across the street from MacArthur's headquarters.

The paraders shouted, waved and bowed as military police moved them back across the street while Jap cameramen took pictures of the demonstration.

MacArthur Eases Jap Trade Curb

TOKYO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gen. MacArthur today granted Japan the right to resume strangently controlled foreign trade, limited to imports of food, cloth and other essentials of subsistence.

The supreme commander's directive specifies the defeated nation pay for every ounce of imports and requires that the government first prove inability to produce a sufficiency of commodities sought in foreign markets.

Wainwright Bares Japs' First Raid on Philippines

By GEN. JONATHAN M. WAINWRIGHT

There were many things to do on the morning that hell broke loose. If I had ached before that, for better-trained men and the proper tools, now the want was beyond ache. I had planned to see MacArthur within the next day or two to be sure that he realized how unprepared we were in North Luzon, how low we were in everything that goes to make up a man's army.

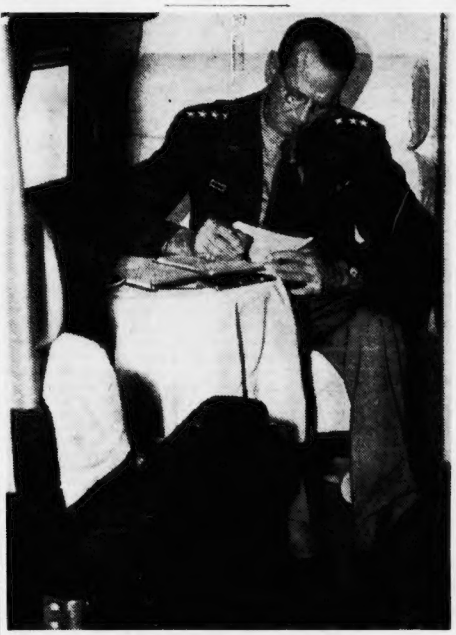
But now that the word of Pearl Harbor had come from Manila, I knew I would soon be moving north, not south to see MacArthur. So I told Johnny Pugh that I would make a list of the things I needed from MacArthur, and send him to Manila to try to get them.

I sat in my room writing that list, during the pre-dawn of the first day of war. The phone rang twice while I scribbled. Each call brought progressively worse information. The 4:50 a.m. call from Pete Irwin told me that the battleship line at Pearl Harbor, and our big Hickam Field air base, had been heavily bombed. A little after 5 o'clock Pete called again to say that Adm. Hart had received another message from Adm. Kimmel advising Hart not only that a state of war with Japan existed but instructing him to "govern yourself accordingly."

The latter phrase, I think, referred to a plan the Navy must have had to withdraw its larger surface craft from Manila Bay at the start of hostilities. For on that first day of war all major surface ships started south.

As soon as I learned that Hickam had been bombed, I called Clark Field, but they had been informed. Johnny Pugh came over to my quarters about dawn. I gave him the list of desperately needed ammunition and equipment, and told him to rush it to Manila.

"And while you're down there find Tom Dooley and send him back at once," I ordered. Tom was in Manila saying good-by to a pretty English girl who was sailing for Australia.



GEN. JONATHAN WAINWRIGHT
Works on Notes While Flying Home

Shortly before 9 a. m. MacArthur's headquarters informed me that Baguio, the Philippine summer capital, 95 miles above Stotsenburg, had been attacked by Jap bombers—my first real knowledge that the Jap is no respector of non-military targets. MacArthur's headquarters warned me to take every precaution against a possible Jap paratroop landing at Clark Field.

I immediately deployed Col. Clinton Pierce's 26th Cavalry to the east of the field. I had no infantry available, so I put my little battery of pack artillery at the west end of the big parade ground at Stotsenburg and instructed the gunners to set their fuses to zero and load with shrapnel, so that they would be able to rake the parade ground if necessary.

After using the public phone system to issue the necessary orders to my field commanders, I left my headquarters and went over to my house to direct the boxing and storing of some personal effects and to start packing my field equipment. By 12:30 I was ready. I walked out on my porch, headed for my headquarters.

Suddenly the thunder of a flight of approaching planes hit my ears. I ran down on the lawn just as they roared over the back-drop of the Zambales mountains. There were about 80 of them, bombers mainly, but also dive bombers and fighters. They swept over Stotsenburg, shaking the ground, and let their bombs go on Clark Field—most of whose bombers were on the ground.

The Jap came to Clark Field with his biggest bombs. The very air of Stotsenburg rattled with concussion. In the midst of the almost uncontested raid my Filipino boy, Felemon San Pedro, ran startled from the house, his eyes like big black marbles. In his frenzy he had put on my steel helmet.

"Mother of God, General, what shall I do?" he shouted.

"Go get me a bottle of beer," I yelled. It seemed to help him. I know the beer helped me.

I drained it, handed him the bottle and walked over to my headquarters. The No. 1 gun of the battery protecting the parade grounds stood quite close to my headquarters. I went over and stood near it, watching the black bursts of

4 Million Army Asked By Marshall

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP) —Gen. Marshall cautioned Americans today that a rich nation which laws down its arms in this age of terrifying and fantastic weapons courts catastrophe.

The chief of staff said the United States should maintain a regular Army, National Guard and Reserve of trained civilians so huge it could mobilize 4,000,000 men within a year.

It should not stint funds for intensive scientific research, Marshall asserted in his biennial report to the Secretary of War, at a time when methods of attack hitherto unpublished, may subject New York, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago or San Francisco to a rain of annihilation from points thousands of miles from this continent.

Provide money and means for continuous research into the military ramifications of man's scientific advance.

Provide a permanent peacetime citizen Army, built around a corps of men who have received one year of compulsory military training.

Encourage the National Guard —it is "in the first category of importance" in the citizen Army.

Maintain a regular Army composed primarily of a strategic force, with emphasis on air power, part of it deployed in the Pacific and Caribbean.

Keep the training program abreast of technical developments and the resulting modifications of tactics.

LT. COL. MARTIN JOYCE, MRS. CATHERINE JOYCE
Mother Views Prison Chief's Trophies

U. S. Incredulity Puzzles Officer

By ALICE BISSELL

"Say, on the level, it's propaganda, isn't it?"

This remark, whispered in his ear by an in-the-know home front business man, was quite a shock to Lt. Col. Martin Joyce, 48, home today for the first time in four years with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Joyce of Bertston st., West Roxbury.

Not long ago in Germany, Col. Joyce burned his uniforms because no cleasing could wash away the reek of death. He was commanding officer of Dachau prison camp. His own personal photograph album tells the truth of how the Americans found the gas and torture chambers, and Joyce himself had charge of the burial of 4200 bodies.

"Yes, we have evidence that Nazi women ordered 'skin shoes,'" he said, "and heaven help the men there with tattoos. We found orders filled for 'skin plaques.'"

He found it hard to conduct meetings of representatives of the 32 nations represented in the camp. So many people died trying to speak a few words.

The former lieutenant troop commander of the State Police has had as varied a career as any soldier.

Here is part of his record:

July, '41, officer in charge of radio at Ft. Shafter. After Pearl Harbor, officer in charge of radar. Seven months in South Pacific with the Americal Division Task Force. Air Force, radar officer.

With signal battalion at Bombay, Suez, Cairo, and signal officer in Libya.

Commanding officer of prisoner-of-war camp of 14,000 at Algiers, and of 60,000 prisoners at Oran.

Then he went to England with the Civil Affairs Division, then to France, and, after Dachau, was made chief public safety officer with the 7th Army, in charge of reorganizing and supervising police departments throughout Germany.

"We kicked all the Nazis out," he said.

"Propaganda? Don't the people here yet realize we're living in a tough old world?"

The child weighed 32 pounds when he was taken ill last May and now weighs only 25 pounds.

4 Holdups Confessed By Suspect

Nabbed with 10 other suspects in a police roundup, Samuel P. Jackson, 31, of Intervale st., Roxbury, today allegedly admitted taking part in four of the series of holdups staged in Greater Boston in the past month.

He was arrested at gunpoint in his home by a special squad from Warren ave. station, headed by Capt. Louis DiSessa. DiSessa said Jackson was wanted for questioning in connection with other robberies as well as those admitted.

In the lineup police said he told them he was involved in the robberies at the following places: Soboff & Glickson Co., North Washington st., $3000 loot; Laurel Club Beverage Corp., Roxbury, $700; Dr. Swett's Root Beer Co., Roxbury, $1100, and Davidson's Milk Co., Chelsea, $1200.

Capt. DiSessa said the "catch" in the roundup, in addition to Jackson, included several State Prison parolees and suspects in various crimes.

Jackson was wearing the uniform of a Merchant Marine officer when arrested. He told police he bought the outfit in a West End pawn shop last week.

Two other wanted men eluded traps set for them, DiSessa said. They are sought on armed robbery warrants issued in Brighton Court during the past six weeks.

Despite increased police vigilance, thee crime wave continued unabated with a Back Bay man falling victim to "muggers" as he walked through Boston Common early today.

The other arrests climaxed stolen car chases in Charlestown and the Back Bay. Three juveniles were arrested in Charlestown when police spotted a car stolen in Lynn Tuesday being driven through City sq. Officers gave chase in a prowl car and the pursuit ended when the trio of juveniles crashed the stolen machine against an Elevated upright in Thompson sq.

A sailor was arrested at Columbus ave. and Wellington st. by Patrolmen William Stahler and Edmund Farrell after he had stolen a taxicab from its parking place near the Back Bay station.

The victim of the holdup on Boston Common was Charles Bliss, 35, of Beacon st., Back Bay. He told police he was walking home when two men dressed in Marine uniforms jumped on him near the Parkman Bandstand.

"This is what we used to do to the Japs," he quoted one of the stickup men as saying. The other, grabbing Bliss with a headlock, shoved a knee into his back and ordered him to fork over his money or suffer a broken back.

Crime Victim's Mother Dies, Not Told of Murder

Mrs. Zelda Rodman, 70, whose daughter, Sarah, was bludgeoned to death as she hastened to her mother's bedside, died today in her Fottler rd., Mattapan, home, ignorant of the tragedy which struck her family Monday night.

Miss Rodman, 43-year-old pharmacist, was throttled and beaten to death outside her home after a hurried trip from her job in Central sq., Cambridge, to be with her mother in the latter's last hours.

Funeral plans were indefinite for Mrs. Rodman and her devoted daughter since police sought to obtain fingerprints of Sarah's attacker.

Decision to seek fingerprints was made following disclosure by Medical Examiner Timothy Leary that Miss Rodman's murderer choked her before beating her on the head.

Capt. Bernard J. Graham of Mattapan station said the possibility the crime was committed by a handbag snatcher had been eliminated. He said his special squad of detectives instead sought a sex maniac recently released from the Boston State Hospital, which is only a short distance from the Rodman home.

The suspect, who was committed for molesting women, was seen Monday night in a Blue Hill ave. tavern, police said.

Graham explained that police dropped the handbag snatching possibility because, never has a handbag thief been known to beat his victim. Graham said such a criminal makes one lunge for the woman's bag, shoves her aside and flees.

London Battle Rages Over Yanks' British War Brides

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—English brides of American soldiers rallied from all over Britain today for a mass meeting and demonstration planned for London tomorrow as part of a campaign for speedy transportation to join their husbands in the United States.

Doughboys with wives in the United States entered the debate, 16 affixing their signatures to a letter to the London edition of Stars and Stripes, protesting that the use of sending ships to send English brides to America would be a blow to their own hopes of a speedy return home.

"Before we send any British brides or babies to America, let's make sure that all American soldiers who left their homes to fight for their country are sent home," they wrote.

Richard C. Ferguson, American sailor, criticized American girls as mates, praising "natural, unaffected, industrious and loyal" English maidens, in comparing them with American, Canadian, French and German women.

Ferguson's lette to the Stars and Stripes said:

"American girls are spoiled by mechanical luxuries. Their wants and desires are abnormally increased by constant advertising until they are actually hindrances rather than helpmates.

"In spite of pancake, make-up, girdles, nylon hose, our girls are sadly wanting when placed beside their British cousins."

Widow Arraigned In Nurse Murder

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10—Spectators jammed Municipal Court today, tensely awaiting the arraignment before Judge Edward Molkenbuhr of Mrs. Annie Irene Mansfeldt, 45, charged with the murder of Mrs. Vada Martin, 38, nurse she suspected of stealing her husband's love.

The husband of the accused, Dr. John Mansfeldt, prominent San Francisco physician, committed suicide by poison on learning of the murder.

His body was found Sunday in an auto parked at a lonely picnic ground, three days after his wife shot the nurse and drove her victim's body to Central Emergency Hospital.

Whether Mrs. Mansfeldt was sane when she killed her supposed love rival emerged today as the major legal issue of her coming trial. This was made plain by Dist. Atty. Edmund G. Brown as Mrs. Mansfeldt, still suffering from the shock of her husband's suicide, prepared to face the court ordeal.

Counsel for the self-confessed slayer indicated they would invoke her constitutional rights and not permit her to testify today, saying they may waive the hearing and allow the case to go directly to the superior court for trial.

They declined to say what plea would be entered, although Atty. Vincent W. Hallinan, chief defense counsel, declared: "If ever there was a perfect defense on the grounds of insanity, this is it."

Mrs. Mansfeldt's appearance at the coroner's inquest, after which a jury charged her with the nurse's murder, furnished drama in its starkest form.

Attired in a jade green coat and brown dress, her face haggard and drawn from lack of sleep, Mrs. Mansfeldt walked into the coronor's courtroom supported by a police officer and one of her lawyers.

Again and again during the nearly two hours of examination, she collapsed, screaming and moaning. Each flash of a cameraman's bulb evoked hysterical shrieks.

Before she was seated she asked if her three teen-age children were in school.

"My poor children," she moaned. Then she collapsed, and was taken to the jury room to be revived.

Later, with head bowed, she heard witnesses relate how she had driven up to the hospital and told attendants: "There is a dying woman in my car."

She collapsed again when a physician described the fatal wound in the breast of the murdered nurse.

She listened with obvious horror as a hospital attendant testified she had placed a revolver on his desk and announced a woman was dying outside in her car. He quoted her as saying, "I killed her."

When Insp. Al Corassa of the homicide squad repeated her story of pyramiding jealousy and suspicion directed against her husband and the nurse, Mrs. Mansfeldt held her hands over her ears and rocked back and forth, moaning, "I can't bear it."

But she remained throughout the hearing and was led back to the women's prison to await arraignment. Later she was removed to the hospital, where she was held overnight.

Efforts to locate the husband of the dead nurse, CPO Wilbur Martin, serving with the Navy in the southwest Pacific, have failed, according to her brother-in-law, William F. Baker.

Mrs. Quimby Opens Divorce Defense

Opening the defense of Mrs. Florence Quimby, 31, of Lothian rd., Brighton, against her husband's suit for divorce, Dr. Carl A. DeSimone, of Brighton, testified in Dedham Probate court today he had been treating her for more than a year for anemia and general nervousness.

He declared he had never seen her under influence of liquor in frequent visits and that it was his opinion her condition was due to her marital maladjustment.

Her husband, Austin A. Quimby, Needham contracter, charges her with gross and confirmed habits of intoxication and seeks custody of their doughter, Betty Lou, 9.

Another defense witness, Mrs. Alma Bruni, also of Lothian rd., testified she had known Mrs. Quimby since January, 1944, and had seen her intoxicated only once, at a party in the Bruni apartment. She admitted seeing her take drinks on other occasions.

Both Quimby and his sister, Mrs. Evelyn Kelley, of Washington st., Needham, testified yesterday that the daughter was "frightened" by her mother. Mrs. Kelley told of the girl telephoning her and asking her to "take her away."

Quimby, on the stand earlier in the day, testified Betty Lou told him she hated her mother, and wanted to stay with him. This, he said, was when he was returning the child to his wife after he had kept her for several days when he found Mrs. Quimby intoxicated.

Recap Tire Racket Perils Hub Drivers

OPA enforcement officials disclosed today that unscrupulous dealers had been recapping tires condemned as junk by the OPA and had sold them to the unsuspecting public for as much as $12 each.

James J. Brennan, chief enforcement officer, declared many of the tires were so thin that a hand could be pushed through them, and asserted drivers were risking their lives when they used the recapped junk tires.

Th racket, investigators found, was cenetered in Boston and Chelsea, but checkers found some of the worthless tires have been sold as far away as Worcester and Springfield.

The OPA plans to file civil and criminal actions against the dealers in U. S. district court, charging them with selling junk tires at the prices of sound recapped tires.

"A driver takes his life in his hands when he puts one of these junk tires on his car," Brennan said. "The tires are so dangerous ntat a service station attendant would not even inflate it if he knew its condition.

"Many of the jobs are so crudely done that cracks in the tires are visible under the paint."

U. S. Steps Into Rapport $350,000 Will Contest

With the estate growing suddenly from $187,797 to nearly $350,000, federal investigators from the Bureau of Internal Revenue today entered the will contest of the late Mollie Rapport of Roxbury, who amassed a fortune in the beauty business.

The contest by 10 relatives, heard for a week in Suffolk Probate Court, had been continued until next Monday as the government stepped in.

Investigators were given papers in the estate by Judge Robert G. Wilson, Jr., after they declared their records showed the business had made net profits of only $2000 or $3000 in recent years.

Since the contest began, more assets have shown up daily, seven additional bankbooks and bonds being uncovered at yesterday's session.

Contestants seek to break the will on the ground undue influence on Miss Rapport was exerted by a sister, Bessie Coven of Roxbury, and her two children Daniel and Beatrice Coven, named in the will.

The testatrix came here alone from Russia in 1903 to take a job in a cigar factory and later became wealthy after studying the electrolysis beauty business.

Kramer's Aides Snicker as Wife Calls Him Kind

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 10 (INS)—Josef Kramer, "Beast of Belsen," admitted today in military court that Nazi party doctrine called for destruction of the Jewish race.

Kramer's wife taking the stand to try to save her husband, said he had been "troubled" about the unfortunates who went to their fate in Oswiecim gas chambers.

She declared Kramer was kind to her and their children and to the inmates of the camps.

She told of the "mental torture" suffered by Kramer one night because a truckload of medical supplies was destroyed in an air raid.

Nazi "Murder Factory" Defendants Wrangle

WIESBADEN(Germany, Oct. 10 (AP)—Seven Germans on trial for their lives started violent wrangling among themselves today when one of the accused told of 75 Poles and Russians arriving at the Hadamar "murder facotry" and being killed by injections the same day.

The Germans, one a woman, are accused by an American military court of killing at least 400 persons in the former insane asylum.

Alfons Klein, administrator of what the Nazis called the "Health Institute," said that Dr. Adolf Wahlmann—a tall, gaunt graduate Heidelberg—met with his staff each morning to decide who would die that day.

Hitler Order to Shoot Yank Captives Denied

ROME, Oct. 10 (AP)—Gen. Gustav von Zangen, who commanded a German army group in Italy, denied at the war crimes trial of Gen. Anton Dostler today that the order to execute 15 captured American troops came from higher up.

A signed statement by Bostler, introduced as evidence, asserted there "were some strict orders from the Fuehrer according to which saboteurs were to be annilated."

Atomic Force Opens Up Fantastic World

By LEE CARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (INS)—American scientist-engineer teams have opened the door on the atomic age and beyond lies a fantastic world.

Today's children will live tomorrow in a world heated and lighted by atomic energy, travel on trains and planes powered by pultonium, dwell in homes constructed entirely different from today's most modern house, and probably be free from many of the diseases and illnesses that now afflict mankind.

Harnessing of atomic energy for peaceful purposes is an accomplished fact.

Within two years the process will be put to practical use, Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, chief scientist of the atomic bomb department, declared.

Within five years atomic energy may replace all other sources of power if the price per pound of U-235 is brought down to approximately $25000. At present it is about $52,000.

One pound of U-235 is equivalent to 11,400,000 kilowatt hours, 1500 tons of coal, 200,000 gallons of gasoline. In the beginning the substance may replace premium fuels such as aviation gasoline. Then as the price comes down and production increases, U-235 may replace cheaper fuels such as coal.

Transition from the world we know today to the atomic era will probably be as swift as the transition from the horse-and-buggy era to the motor age," Dr. Oppenheimer said.

Experts say atomic heat can be piped directly into homes or changed into steam, hot water or electricity. The energy can be transformed into electricity via conventional turbines and the present system of electric lighting and powering used, or an entirely new and now unknown type of lighting developed.

"This thing has a lot of tricks up its sleeve—no end of them in fact," Oppenheimer explained.

Atomic energy also is expected to produce old elements at lower costs in much greater quantities, and perfected dyes, plastics and metal substitutes.

Its impact on industry will be felt in all fabrication of materials, including building materials.

In the field of medicine and chemistry, radiations and other by-products of nuclear energy are expected to provide new medicines

MEN, WOMEN OVER 40
RUN DOWN, LISTLESS?
GET NEW PEP, VIM
END THAT TIRED FEELING

Why be tired, nervous, old at 40 just because your body is not getting a sufficient daily amount of Iron, Iodine and Thiamine. Many people have that "run down" feeling and never realize that an extra supply of these much needed elements may be just what they need. Check up on yourself now! Do you have all the energy and endurance you want or are you one of those who may need a little extra help by adding Iron, Iodine and Thiamine to your diet?

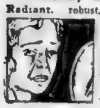
OLD AT 40-50-60?

Old age arrives when the body no longer builds new cells to replace old cells as fast as they wear out. Iron and Iodine, important cell building factors, help fight the onset of OLD AGE.

Nervous, Irritable?

Are ragged, jumpy nerves making you irritable, cross and out of sorts with yourself? High tension and nervousness may be due to a deficiency of Thiamine and Iodine. Don't overlook these factors when your "nerves" are on edge.

PALE, LISTLESS?



Radiant, robust, energetic health that makes life really worth while is priceless. If you are pale, listless, and all in, an added supply of Iron, Iodine and Thiamine may be just what you need.

WEAK, TIRED?

Q—I have two sons overseas and would like to know if you have any information on their return, on account of Christmas packages. One is with the 71st Div., the other with the 3rd Brigade in New Guinea. A neighbor inquires about the 36th Armored Reg. D. H. E., Walpole.

A—The 71st Div. and 36th Armored are not scheduled to leave until early spring. Have no information on outfit in New Guinea.

Q—My son was killed in action and left a widow and child, now the widow has died leaving the child in the care of her parents. My husband and I would very much like to have the child to care for and bring up. Have we any claim on him at all? H. C., South Boston.

A—This is a matter which would have to be settled by legal action, unless the widow's parents voluntarily gave the child to you. It is suggested that you contact a legal authority for advice.

Many letters have been received by the Veterans' Friend Editor seeking information as to these whereabouts of certain units, now overseas, and when they might be expected to embark for U. S. The War Department does not make this information available until after troops have embarked for home. Only divisions scheduled to remain or leave various theaters of operation are made available. Therefore it is necessary to know divisions or corps to which units are attached in order to furnish answers.

New Russian Demands Loom

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND
Dean of American Foreign Correspondents
Written Expressly for the Hearst Newspapers

MADRID, Oct. 10—Totalitarian Communist Soviet Russia will not yield on Foreign Commissar Molotoff's stand on southeastern Europe, which he took at the London conference. Marshal Stalin will not budge on Soviet Russia's pretensions in Asia and the Pacific.

Soviet Russia is digging in on her present political and diplomatic lines, and is preparing new moves and getting ready for the long struggle.

The East will be played against the West—Asia and the Pacific against America and Britain in Europe.

Those are the views in certain quarters, which usually are well informed, based on reports from London, Paris, Berne and Ankara.

The gloom that has settled over Europe after the Big Five breakdown in London has not been lifted by Secretary of State Byrnes' recent broadcast.

The secretary revealed the very wide, fundamental chasm which has long existed among the Allies but which none wanted to see.

Secretary Byrnes "hopes" Soviet Russia will accept the general peace conference. Perhaps Stalin will, when he gets what he wants in advance, or is assured of getting it.

With characteristic emotional and sentimental swing, America went from admiration for Soviet Russia to infatuation, to trust, to dawning suspicion, and now to mistrust.

It imputed altruism, ideals and principles to Communist Russia and Stalin which the Russians did not possess nor even pretend to have.

The war was an Allied victory but the western Allies enthusiastically helped replace one totalitarian dictator by another, and now accuse him of "Hitler methods" as if surprised, since both are of the same totalitarian school.

Moscow announces the elections of the supreme Soviet will be held in February.

The last election of the supreme Soviet was 98.6 per cent unanimous, with 855 Communists and the remainder "non-party Bolsheviks"—Bolsheviks of the old school not members of the Communist party, yet retained on the voting lists as candidates without party.

There's only one party permitted in the Soviet Union. There's only one list of candidates. You cannot write on your ballot any other name.

You can protest by writing "protest" on your ballot or by invalidating the ballot. That's the Soviet Communist concept of democracy.

Through the breakdown in London and the uneasy situation in South America, Japan and the Far East, America is in the vortex of an international political whirlpool.

What's next?

STABBED IN THE BACK BY ARTHRITIS

NOW is the time of the year when Arthritis is on the loose, stabbing victims after victim with its deadly dagger of pain. If you are one of those unfortunate people, here is important information for you to know. Many people suffering from nagging arthritic pains in back, knees, shoulders and hands, never suspect that these pains may be substantially caused, in some cases, by excessive acid wastes within the body.

Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets contain food sodium and food iodine, two minerals of nutritional value which may prove to be helpful to many arthritis sufferers. Vig-Ore Sodeom Tablets are free from all harmful Chemical drugs. They positively do not contain injurious ingredients of any kind.

This Is My Story ★ ★ By Gen. Jonathan Wainwright

And I was standing there when I heard the moist impact of metal against flesh and bone. I turned and saw one of No. 1's gunners falling near me. His face was a bloody blob. A bomb splinter had streaked all the way over from Clark Field, whose edge was 1200 yards from us, and hit him in the lower forehead, just below his helmet.

Capt. Fitch, the battery commander, and I leaned over the boy. His face was a sight.

"Get this man to the doctor," I ordered.

Fitch and someone else put their hands under the lad, but the boy then stirred, opened his eyes and wiped a dirty hand across his face.

"No," the boy said, sharply. "Stay by my gun . . . stay by my gun."

While this was happening, Tom Dooley drove up with a screeching of brakes and jumped out of his car. I saw from the direction in which he came that he must have driven right past Clark Field.

"Tom, you damned fool, you didn't drive past Clark during this bombing, did you?" I shouted at him angrily.

"Sure, sir," he said. "You sent me orders to report to you as fast as I could, and I was worse afraid of you than I was of those bombs."

I stalked inside my headquarters, with Tom at my heels, and quickly wrote out the order which gave him, and the young gunner, Silver Stars. I guess they were the first decorations of the Pacific war.

We were in a war for which we were no more prepared than a child is prepared to fight a cruel and seasoned professional pugilist.

(Tomorrow: The Jap horde arrives on Luzon.)

With Hickam Field, adjoining the great U. S. Naval Base at Pearl Harbor, a mass of flames and wreckage as a result of the sneak Jap attack, Wainwright knew that it would not be long—a matter of hours or days at the most before his own small ill equipped army would have to face the Japanese hordes.

GOING BACK—Gen. Wainwright is caught by the camera as he goes back over the harrowing days on Luzon when he waited with his Philippine Army to meet the attack of the Japanese. Cigar in mouth (above) he tries to recall an incident of the mad hurly-burly which followed the flashing of news that Pearl Harbor had been attacked . . . and at right he tries to remember just how he felt when "suddenly the thunder of a flight of approaching planes hit my ears" as the Japs swept in for the first attack on Clark Field.

British Train Wreck Takes Toll of 51 Lives

Standing out against the sky, the remnants of two passenger coaches perch precariously on a 60-foot pile of wreckage after the Perth-London train was wrecked at Borne End in what is called one of the worst rail catastrophes in ten years. THE HOME OF TOMORROW

ARCHITECTS planning the new homes of the Reconstruction Period are copying the old mansions and Cape Cod cottages of early New England, says a distinguished New Yorker.

Imitation is a sincere form of flattery, and we, as New Englanders, are supposed to be grateful and satisfied.

Yet we are not—and for a very good reason.

The dwellings of a century ago represented the ultimate in knowledge, skill and materials of that era.

But today, in this wondrous era of streamlining, air-conditoning, shadowless lighting and automatic kitchens, the old mansions and Cape Cod cottages are as obsolete as the tallow candle and warming pan.

Thanks to the scientific and engineering progress which was so convincingly demonstrated in the late war, it is now possible and practical to build a house almost entirely of glass and to live in a veritable tropical garden all the year 'round, even when the mercury is 10 below and the snow blankets the ground to a depth of a dozen feet.

Architects, taking full acount of our short summers, should design homes especially for New England and use glass as liberally as they have been wont to use lumber and bricks.

Then we shall be a happier and healthier people, and tuberculosis, the number one enemy of human life in these parts, will soon disappear.

SPEED BONUS

EVERYTHING possible should be done to hasten the payment of the $100 Massachusetts bonus to the World War II veterans who have earned and fully deserve it.

The fact that only 5033 checks have been delivered to more than 60,000 applicants is a powerfully convincing argument in favor of giving Treasurer John E. Hurley a clerical staff sufficiently large to operate his department efficiently.

All this trouble might have been avoided if the Legislature had placed the bonus at the top of its calendar.

Instead, the question of giving the servicemen some token of the Commonwealth's gratitude was delayed and neglected for months, and it was not until the closing hours of the last session that the law was passed.

And even then, the legislation was woefully inadequate, as evidenced by the omission of the valorous and universally admired Coast Guard from its provisions.

The time to give a fighting man a bonus is when he takes off his uniform and resumes civilian life.

It is worth while if it affords him only a week of rest and relaxation.

The bonus is not so necessary and therefore not so much appreciated if it is held up until the man goes back to his job or profession.

The lads who fought and won this war have been the victims of too much procrastination and red tape.

It is increasingly plain that a deplorably large number of Americans, including various bureaucrats and brass hats, cannot realize that everything we have in this country today we owe to the soldiers, sailors and marines who had the courage and strength to meet and defeat the enemy.

REAL LEADER

WE JOIN all Massachusetts, New England and America in prayerful felicitation to the Most Rev. Richard J. Cushing as the great and vigorous religious leader begins his second year as Archbishop of Boston.

Already the vigor and enterprise of this outstanding prelate are manifest in the growth of his diocese, in hospitals, in literature—in fact, in everything calculated to solace and sustain the individual and bring him closer to God.

May God spare him for many, many years, and ever bless his noble undertakings.

On the Side By E. V. Darling

No one is so accursed by fate
No one so utterly desolate,
But some heart, though unknown
Responds unto her own.
Responds—as if with unseen wings
An angel touched its quivering strings
And whispers in its song:
"Where have you stayed so long?"

THIS POEM is quoted at the insistent request of a member of the Pittsburgh "We Wanna Get Married Club" . . . After this I am going to count ten, maybe twenty, before I write anything that might cost me a stogie. That thoughtless remark of mine that a U. S. Infantry sergeant with a moustache would be hard to find is proving a very expensive crack. For example, friends of Sgt. Jack Hathaway, 26th Infantry, First Division, are demanding a box of stogies. This demand for a special award is based on the claim that Sgt. Hathaway has the largest moustache in the United States Army. It measures seven and one-half inches from tip to tip.

SAYS SHE: "Have been looking at news pictures of telephone girls," writes a Boston waitress. "Most of these girls are very pretty but seem to be suffering from what is referred to as 'stenographers' spread' or 'coffee shop cashiers' hips." It has always seemed to me that stenographers, manicurists, restaurant cashiers and telephone girls would be wise to spend a couple of hours a day doing their work standing up. Either that or spend a little time rolling on the floor at home. It is sad seeing girls with nice youthful faces having such matronly figures. Why can't they look like Linda Darnell?"

BLONDES, ETC. A Hollywood studio had twin brunettes under contract and, wishing to distinguish between them, asked if one would become a blonde. The girls tossed up to see whom would become the blonde. The photograph of the twins after one had her hair dyed gives an idea of how a natural brunette looks before and after becoming a blonde. I think the twin who became a blonde got the worst of it. As a blonde, she pearance she had as a brunette. has a certain degree of glamor but lacks the refinement of appearance she had as a brunette. That of course, is not meant as a reflection on natural blondes whose refinement of appearance is unquestionably equal to that of brunettes.

Writes a young woman of Detroit: "I am a beautiful, blue-eyed redhead with a figure like Lana Turner, I am a marvelous singer, and can dance as well as Ginger Rogers. I am also a wonderful cook. I am happy to say that in spite of my looks and great talent I am not at all conceited."

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Am I right in saying Blanche Ring was married to Thomas Meighan? A—No, sir. Frances Ring, Blanche's sister, was married to Thomas Meighan and a very happy marriage it was. Blanche has been married four times. Her last husband was Charles Winninger . . . Q—Do you know a song titled "Only a Leaf of a Rose"? A—Can't say I do. I know one titled "Only a Rose with a Broken Stem." Will you settle for that? Q—The corporal claims a heavyweight named Jim Johnson once fought a draw in a world's championship bout. I have been a boxing fan for years and never heard of a fighter named Jim Johnson. How about this? A—The corporal is right. In 1913, in Paris, Jack Johnson and Jim Johnson engaged in a heavyweight title bout, which resulted in a ten-round draw.

SHOES: A San Franciscan in the shoe business asks if some years ago shoes made in Czechoslovakia were sold in great quantities in this country and offered serious competition to United States made footwear. That's right. In the late 1920's and early 1930's shoes made in Czechoslovakia were sold so cheaply and in such great quantities that many United States manufacturers were seriously affected. I believe, in fact, some shoe factories in Brockton were actually forced out of business by this Czechoslovakian competition.

TIME RUSHES ON: How long ago would you say the following films were first shown: "The Gold Rush," "The "Merry Widow," "Phantom of the Opera," "Unholy Three," "The Freshman" and "The Big Parade"? They were among those named as the "best pictures of 1925." Doesn't seem like 20 years ago that I saw them. Time marches on much too fast.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10—The Santa Fe is asking the passengers for suggestions as to how the railroads should be run, and I observe that the New York Central is doing the same.

Westbrook Pegler

It appears that the railroads, generally, apprehend that the public will remember the discomforts of travel during the war and hold a grudge and, possibly, take to the buses or planes, although, at the worst, the civilians in the Pullmans had only to look out the windows at the troop trains or recall, if they had any experience in European travel, the margin of our worst over Europe's best in normal times to realize how well off we were.

I think the new salesmanship of the railroads, in the passenger department, goes in for a little too much hand-holding and baby-kissing and is attempting the impossible.

After all, the first and final purpose of the railroad is to take the passenger safely from here to there, and it never will be able to provide the luxury of mansion life in the cramped quarters of a train.

Not many of us are accustomed to luxury at home, anyway, and if the railroads give us just comfort, safety and privacy for those who like it, we should be willing to settle for that.

There are gregarious souls, however, who like to strike up conversations and discover that it is a small world after all, so it will not do to abolish the open car.

Such passengers get claustrophobia in the cells, however soft the beds and chairs and pretty the tones of the upholstery.

ONE ERROR of our railroad people up to the time of Pearl Harbor was that in some hauls they were trying to compete with the planes in speed. They went too fast, and whatever statisticians may say in decimal points about the casualty rate per million passenger miles, when an engineer slews the dishes off the tables and rolls the guests in their bunks on the curves, he is going too fast.

They were doing that every day and night and the experience is not only uncomfortable but, in flood season, when the ground is spongy and the road-bed is working, it is alarming as well.

I hope they will be able to assure us soon that their regular, professional operating crews are back and that the old sense of responsibility, the caution and alertness that had come to be characteristic, will be revived.

You just can't run railroads safely with casuals in the crews and it takes years of training and experience to teach a man that an act of monkey-business that might be harmless in a factory or an office may cause a terrible smash somewhere out in the wilds.

RAILROAD MEN that I know are just hell on caution and that slogan "Safety First" was dinned into the very souls of the regular crews, the best of whom are not young.

A year or so ago I was talking, or listening, to Henry Kaiser and trying to keep him on the subject of a fellow who was running the United Auto Workers in a war plant that Henry had been asked to straighten out. Henry flaps around, and the first thing I knew he had a fellow bring in a lot of pictures of the choo-choo car of the future, painted in beautiful colors, which looked more like jobs for the milliners than the steel workers. A passenger in that brave world of the future might feel that he was a Vanderbilt or a Russian Commissar for a day, amid servants, heavy linen and crystal service.

But I remembered what an old, practical railroad man had told me about a small batch of candy cars that had been whipped up as an experimental order which certainly were great for style and beauty but sagged at the ends so the couplings didn't meet.

Me, I don't care whether the outside is shiny, like a new dime, and gaily striped like a song writer's shirt, or there are movies or a game-room in which to listen to radio comedians from Hollywood playing gin rummy and discussing their fabulous earnings, if it stays on the track and doesn't run into the train ahead or get hit by the one behind.

If, then, for extra, they can keep the air-conditioning in shape and shake together a fair supper and the lights work, that will be just fine.

AND SO, My Fellow Countrymen, today I report to you that your sons and daughters have served you well and faithfully with the calm, deliberate, determined fighting spirit of the American soldier and sailor. THEY ARE HOMEWARD BOUND—TAKE CARE OF THEM.—GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 10—No need to tell you I wasn't surprised when I was told that Walter Wanger planked down $50,000 for "If I Love You" an unpublished play by Lionel Wiggam, for his favorite star.

I mean, of course, Joan Bennett. Walter read the story and decided that it was perfect for his bride and he didn't mind paying that amount for his Joanie.

Joan Bennett

He also decided that he had to have Lionel Wiggam in his studio family so he signed the young Princeton graduate to write the screen play and to do other work for him. Walter says he doesn't expect to start the picture until Spring, when William Seiter will be free to direct this comedy for him. Joan, like all the other dramatic stars, is begging for comedy.

I AGREE with Ben Bogeaus that Tallulah Bankhead would be wonderful in the satire he is about to produce called "Congress Woman." Tallulah would be wonderful in anything. Ben is so dead set on getting her that he's gone to New York to follow up negotiations which have started and which look promising. He has George Raft all signed for the other co-starring part, and George will do it before he moves to RKO. And I want to say again that it is Dolores Moran that the very handsome Bogeaus will marry when he's legally free. It is not Sylvia Sidney, as reported elsewhere.

* * *

FANTASTIC as this may sound, I hear right from New York that 20th Century-Fox has approached Jean Arthur about playing Anna in "Anna and the King of Siam." Irene Dunne is out of the picture at her request because, as we told you, she will not do any more pictures until her husband, Dr. Frances Griffin is well.

* * *

DORIS WARNER LEROY, daughter of Harry Warner, today confirmed the rumor of her engagement to Charles Vidor. She said that she and Charles, who is now directing Rita Hayworth in "Gilda," are planning to marry Nov. 13, just as soon as he finishes his picture. Doris said that they will motor to the desert and marry somewhere near Los Angeles. After a few weeks in the desert they will go to New York on a month's honeymoon. She is wearing a gorgeous new square-cut diamond ring to seal the engagement which she definitely announced today for the first time.

* * *

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: The reports that Louise Tobin James, Harry's first wife, was to marry Frankie Lane, were entirely untrue. The lady herself tells me that when Don Hume—former champion stroke of the University of Washington crew, now in the Merchant Marine—gets home at Christmas time, there'll be a wedding. Says she doesn't know how the "Lane" reports started. Louise has two children by the trumpet-playing genius—two boys. Betty Grable, who is now Mrs. Harry James, has a little girl. The first Mrs. James says she is definitely happy; Betty's happy; Harry's happy—so that makes it unanimous.

IT LOOKS LIKE the dawn of peace is beginning to show on that troubled Alan Ladd-Paramount horizon. John Farrow is working on three pictures at once, "Calcutta," "California" and "Third Avenue," but when I heard that Paramount is holding up "California" until mid-November, and having John start "Third Avenue" first, I feel sure that's to give time enough to straighten out the Ladd trouble. "Third Avenue," by the way, will star Barry Fitzgerald, Diana Lynn and Sonny Tufts.

"Sorry, he's in bed now. No, he wasn't wounded. He's worn out from the welcoming committee."

THE GARBO took herself to luncheon Monday to discuss with Billy Wilder the chances of appearing in the Viennese story he and Charles Brackett are readying for Bing Crosby. Greta has always liked Billy and Charlie immensely because they gave her "Ninotchka," which is her favorite comedy. Even if she consents to do the picture it won't be done this year because Bing isn't making another picture, or going on the radio or doing a darn thing until 1946. That's because he hasn't been feeling well and I call it good sense for him to take care of himself.

* * *

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Clark Gable, when last heard from, was headed in the direction of San Francisco. Does it mean anything that Mrs. Dolly O'Brien is up there? Yes, he still has great admiration for Dolly—and vice versa; little Susan Peters has been playing hostess to her brother, Bob Carnahan, and his bride. The Carnahans were married a week ago in Detroit; Lt. Richard Ney is out of the Navy and will probably return to Los Angeles when he and Grace Gunson finish second-honeymooning and vacationing in New York. It's the first time they've really had any time together since they were married; the death of Vonnie Shelton, who was such a good friend of former Mayor James Walker and many of us who knew her in New York, recalls her beauty and charm. She died in Laguna Friday and she was the wife of Lt. Bob Havey; Norma Shearer has had three "busts" made of the late Irving Thalberg. One of them goes to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio and the other two to her children; the popular Bob Orr has arrived in town for a business conference with Andrew Jergens and Nan Holiner.

* * *

THE RONALD COLMANS and Edna Best, who, curiously enough, is one of Lee Marshall's (her successor) closest friends, have been trying to reconcile the Herbert Marshalls. So far, no luck! Darrlyn Zanuck, the Darryl Zanucks' 14-year-old beauty, won three straight races in a swimming meet Saturday at UCLA; Pat Smart, looking very lovely, is back in town after a whirl and a stage job in New York; Morton Downey is with us on a trip. He's been overseas and all around the world since we last saw him; wonder if it is true that Milton Berle and a well-known New York producer exchanged fisticuffs in an argument?

No Daily Doubles In GI Loan Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Sen. Millikin (D.) of Colorado declared today a halt must be called somewhere in broadening loan provisions to the GI Bill of Rights. He said:

"It looks as if a veteran could get a government guaranteed loan of $2000 for just about any purpose except to go out to the race track."

Thinning Pig

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 10 (AP)—If Jimmy Trower's pig doesn't win a prize at the New Mexico State Fair, it won't be because Jimmy didn't try.

The animal was barred at the scales because it was six pounds over the 300-pound limit.

So the public may know

YOU have probably read in your newspaper, with growing concern, of the strike difficulties in the oil industry. Over the years, The Texas Company has always believed in raising wages as rapidly as possible, consistent with fair retail prices, and reducing working hours consistent with increased production. We realize that only in this way can our people receive more money to buy more things and achieve more leisure to enjoy them.

The Texas Company believes that union leadership also has its responsibility to the American public — that it must help avoid disastrous inflation and that it must live up to its contracts with industry and to the laws of the nation.

With these things in mind, The Texas Company wishes to present to you here:

The salient facts about the strikes at our refineries

1. The strikes are in violation of the no-strike clause of our contract with the union which reads:

"There shall be no strike, stoppage, or slow-down of work . . . except upon written notice . . . The Company within thirty days from the receipt of such notice will meet with the Local Union and endeavor to reach an agreement . . . in the event an agreement is not reached within sixty days after the expiration of such thirty-day period, the Union may immediately exercise its rights to strike."

2. The action of the Union is in violation of the War Labor Disputes Act which reads:

"The representative of the employes shall give to the Secretary of Labor notice of any labor dispute . . . For not less than thirty days after notice is given, the contractor and his employes shall continue production . . . On the thirtieth day after notice is given the National Labor Relations Board shall forthwith take a secret ballot of the employes on the question whether they will permit interruption of war production."

3. The Texas Company offered a 15% increase prior to the strike. That increase represents 46 hours of pay for 40 hours of work. The employes have been working 48 hours per week and receiving pay for 52 hours.

4. Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach suggested arbitration and The Texas Company agreed to accept arbitration but asked certain reasonable assurances, such as:

(a) that the strikers return to work

(b) that the arbitrator decide first whether or not the company offer of 15% increase is fair and, if not, the percentage that would be fair

(c) that because of frequent differences between the international and local unions, the local unions as well as the international agree to abide by the arbitrator's award.

5. At Port Arthur, Texas, in January, 1941, the average hourly rate, excluding overtime, was 93 cents. Now, this figure is $1.21 — an increase of 30 per cent, but due to overtime premium payments, the average hourly earning now is $1.31 — an increase of 40 per cent.

6. In January, 1941, the average take-home pay on the basis of a 36-hour week was $33.50 per week. After applying the Company's offer of a 15 per cent increase, and reducing the workweek from 48 to 40 hours, the average take-home pay would be $55.44 per week — an increase in take-home pay of 65 per cent over January, 1941. This compares with an increase in the cost of living of approximately 30 per cent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—My undercover agents at the White House report that President Truman is toying with the idea of reviving a line that was famous far and wide in the old pioneer days.

They aver he is thinking of tacking up a sign in his office:

ONE OF the most instructive publications that has come out of the government printing office in some time is "Our American Government," a list of 279 questions and answers on the history and functions of our governmental setup.

It is so instructive I would like to print the whole thing, but I am afraid you would not care to absorb so much knowledge all at once. Therefore, I shall split it up and run a few questions and answers each day.

★ ★ ★

HERE IS the first batch—and, if there are any observations or comments in parenthesis, they will be mine:

Q—What is the proposed Twenty-Second Amendment?

A—This is a proposal to repeal the Sixteenth Amendment and provide, instead, that while Congress shall have power to collect income taxes without apportionment the maximum rate of tax shall not exceed 25 per cent.

Q—What is the origin of the word "candidate?"

A—In the days of ancient Rome when it was a democracy and people voted for their consuls and praetors, those asking for the office appeared in the forum dressed in white to signify their purity. The Latin word for white was "candidatus," hence our present-day "candidates."

(As everyone knows, our candidates are 99.44 per cent pure. They float.)

Q—In what circumstances may the President call a special session of Congress.

A—The President may convene Congress or either house, on "extraordinary occasions." It is usual for him in calling an extra session to indicate the exact matter which needs the attention of Congress. However, once convened, a Congress cannot be limited in the subject matter which it will consider.

(President Truman, who called Congress back a month earlier this year because of the Jap surrender, is finding this out.)

Q—In what circumstances may the President adjourn Congress?

A—In cases of disagreement between the two houses with respect to time of adjournment, the President is empowered to "adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper." No President has yet exercised this power; there is some question whether it may not apply solely to extraordinary sessions.

A—Members accumulate little, if anything, by reason of their service. Representatives every two years and Senators every six years are usually called upon to spend quite sizeable sums for campaign expenses.

(Yeah, I think I've heard some talk about that!)

Q—What are the duties expected of a member of Congress?

A—They are many and manifold. He should study legislation and attend the meetings of his House. He should listen to a good deal of the debates, but not all of them by any means.

(Not unless he wants them to call a pulmotor to revive him.)

Q—How can a member be reached over the telephone when the House is in session?

A—The Capitol exchange (National 3120) should be requested to call the Democratic cloakroom if the member wanted is a Democrat; or the Republican cloakroom if he is a Republican.

(Or hiding out in the woods if Senator Bilbo is orating.)

Boston After Dark

BEING MET BY A BAND as they debark from a transport bringing them home from Europe, and being met by another band as they detrain at Camp Myles Standish—and being met thereafter by a feast including steak—pleases our homecoming-from-Europe soldiers so much that the state of the unsettled world is forgotten . . . The efficiency of the system which welcomes the soldiers home is marvelous.

He gives the operator a number, receives a slip and waits . . . He waits in commodious, comfortable lounging chairs, and if he wishes a bit of refreshment while waiting, it is his for the beckoning . . . Yes, on this shore of the Atlantic, from the viewpoint of fighting men, many things are perfect.

ON THE OTHER SHORE there is France . . . La Belle France's ambassador, M. Bonnet, said Tuesday for publication that his so beautiful motherland should be on the road to full recovery come next spring . . . "Not so, M. Welles arrived home from Europe Wednesday . . . Before he went across, Ben was a good reporter for the New York Times . . . Well, Maj. Welles is one of those who is not too optimistic at the prospect of France's quick recovery.

The franc is now 50 to the dollar, and it takes the equivalent in francs of $20 (Ed. note: do your own simple arithmetic, please) to buy a good dinner in Paris . . . Mr. Pearson negotiated with the powers-that-be so that American newspapermen had the first crack at buying jeeps . . . They bought them and the boys can now get from place to place . . . The jeep is a wondrous vehicle . . . French cars, like the Citroen, are falling apart . . . Although there are Citroen stations in almost every village, the short-of spare parts is critical."

MAJ. WELLES SAID the resistence movement, so-called, is now looked upon with disdain by the French . . . He says the nucleus of the resistance was the Communists . . . but after the liberation, the resistance movement became so padded with criminals, escaped convicts, hangers-on and opportunists of all political sects that it lost its standing and weight . . . It was interesting, this interview with Maj. Welles . . . It took place in the lobby of the Fox and Hounds Club . . . When Maj. Welles was a child, he was a frequent visitor to those very precincts . . . The Fox and Hounds Club at that time was the Slater mansion on Beacon st., and Maj. EGYPTIAN WAR DAMAGE

CAIRO, Oct. 10 (AP) — The Egyptian finance ministry, in a report to the international war indemnities commission, estimated today enemy action in Egypt had cost the lives of 6000 Egyptian nationals and property damage of 96,000,000 Egyptian pounds (about $386,408,000).

Frank Fay's Courage Hailed

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10—The courage of Frank Fay, well-known actor, in denouncing the attacks on the Catholic church at the recent Leftist rally in Madison Square Garden, was praised by Albert P. Morano, secretary to Rep. Luce (R.) of Connecticut.

The subsequent smear campaign launched by the Communists against Fay was protested in letters sent by Morano to the actor and to Bert Lytell, president of Actors Equity Ass'n.

Fay, in castigating the anti-Catholic remarks made by Harold J. Laski, British Leftist, in a broadcast to the Communist Front rally, requested Actors Equity to investigate the participation in the meeting of five Equity members.

The Equity council not only turned down Fay's request but ordered a hearing Oct. 16 of charges brought against Fay by the five.

CHIC AND CHARMING Constance Bennett makes her debut as producer with "Paris Underground," a story of German-occupied Paris in 1940 in which she also is starred. The United Artists release is being given its world premiere today simultaneously in Boston and Baltimore.

'You Came Along' At Scollay, Olympia

"You Came Along," Paramount's whirlwind story starring Robert Cummings, Lisabeth Scott, the year's exciting screen discovery and Don DeFore, tops the bill at the Washington Street Olympia and Scollay Theaters. Companion attraction is the new Roy Rogers starring film, "Sunset in El Dorado."

More Crime Than Reason

By PEGGY DOYLE

Despite its nursery-rhyme title and an overlay of Luther Adler's excessive charm and Georg Jensen's expensive modern gadgetry, "Beggars Are Coming to Town," which Oscar Serlin is presenting at the Wilbur, is gangster drama in the tired, old prewar tradition.

It is as hard to write about "Beggars Are Coming to Town" as it is hard to stop writing about "Life With Father," another Serlin production which is now in the sixth year of what looks to be a permanent Broadway engagement.

Where "Life With Father" is a rich and rewarding slice of family life, "Beggars Are Coming to Town," whichever way you slice it, is ersatz bratwurst.

Pretentious and strained, Theodore Reeves' new play takes you into the office of a recherche New York supper club and the confidence of its unctuous proprietor, who has stepped up from the mob to uptown racketeering in the Wall st. manner.

His partner of the dese 'n' dose days has just returned from a 14-year stretch, prepared to do business at the old stand, to discover the boys are talking another language befitting the chromium and lumarith fittings.

Harold Clurman's Group Theater direction has nothing to do with the case of the swank Avignon Supper Club and the conflict of Luther Adler, its boss, and Paul Kelly, whom Adler proposes will remain his ex-partner. Adler, going the whole gamut of suavity, plays the would-be iron-hand-in-kid-glove nightclub proprietor soft and unconvincingly.

Kelly, on the other fist, is entirely right as the newly-sprung timer who desen't know the answers mutinous.

Somehow, conflict seems too red-blooded a word for what goes on between these two as they pussyfoot through the six hours (stage time) of the action's duration. Dorothy Comingore, whom the script would have you believe is one of God's noblewomen, confused some of the customers with her contradictory diction and approach.

The production has been lighted and designed by Jo Mielziner to suggest a generous budget and strictly contemporary timing. Nevertheless and nothwithstanding, the Wilbur tenant is as dated as Superman since the atomic bomb made him a has-been.

Adds New Lustre to Hair

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WITH THE THOUSANDS of men returning, we'daresay there isn't a gal whose heart isn't palpitating in double-quick time in planning for those romantic moments ahead . . . who isn't anticipating a gala new life . . . with Him across the table . . . or in HIS arms under soft lights gliding to the tuneful rhythm of toe-tapping syncopation.

Too many girls got slipshod in their beauty routine while the boys were away. Many claimed they had no incentive . . . and now suddenly their heart sings but the mirror reflects a minor obligato. If a gal looks closely and makes up her mind to challenge nature . . . she can do it, believe me. She can retrieve that lost lovely look. How? You say, you've tried with no luck?

Well, let's see. Do you keep your face scrupulously clean every single day . . . pursuing a relentless regime of facial grime remover morning and night? Do you give your locks the good old 100 strokes? Brushing as vigorously as your dainty hands have power? It doesn't matter what hair preparation you apply to your scalp or hair . . . they won't serve their full purpose unless the brushing routine is rigidly and unflinchingly adhered to.

SHAMPOO WITH A PINE SCENT

When you brush the locks faithfully, then we can discuss a new and truly grand shampoo which will bring new lustre to the topknot and clean-smelling fastidiousness of the hair. This new shampoo has a pine scent . . . with the same fragrance of the woods and the invigorating outdoors that bespeaks freshness and youthful vivacity.

And in those charming new hairdos so utterly divine and feminine . . . woman is no longer a reflection of the Kipling couplet "a hank of hair." A sparkling, radiant hairdo can do much to enhance a girl's charm for it frames the face . . . punctuates the expression . . . focuses attention on the eye area. A good shampoo . . . such as this topnotch creation . . . is as important to the interesting appeal of your face . . . as it is to the health and beauty of your hair.

For the name of this new topnotch shampoo, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"LOOK OF THE MONTH" is lovely young Columbia actress Janis Carter . . . a glamorous, modern Circe in white . . . a tidy bit of feminity any hero would love to come home to. For the first step in loveliness, a girl should look to her hair . . . and keep it radiant and sparkling with a new topnotch shampoo that is as fragrant as the pine woods and imparts an aura of woodsy romance to the head.

Time for Picnic

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

CRISP, SPARKLING October week-ends, may inspire you and your family to spend one last day outdoors. And since there is a holiday this week (Columbus Day) some may have the opportunity to indulge in a final fling.

Fresh air, strenuous exercise, cool weather combine to make ravenous appetites, so let's give a thought to picnic lunches. We like to keep a shelf stocked at all times with reserve foods so that if we decide on short notice to have a picnic, there is no wasting of minutes while someone runs to the store for a package of cookies or a roll of wax paper.

Soups—dehydrated and canned—are quickly prepared and transferred to a thermos, and they make mighty good eating after two or three hours out in a crisp fall day. A variety of cheese spreads or canned meat spreads assures good makings for sandwiches at less than a moment's notice. Packaged crackers and cookies can be tossed into the picnic pasket to supply a toothsome bit.

If the occasion offers a little time for preparation, a few sandwich combinations or a batch of the family's favorite cookies may be made up the night before.

SHRIMP CREOLE SANDWICHES

½ cup canned shrimp, minced
4 tbsp. butter or margarine
½ tsp. minced onion
Pinch salt
1 tsp. lemon juice
½ tsp. prepared mustard
2 tbsp. minced stuffed olives
White or whole wheat bread
Butter or margarine

Remove the black vein from the back of each shrimp before mincing. Work the 4 tbsp. of butter with a spoon until soft, then add the onion, shrimp and all remaining ingredients but the bread and butter. Spread between buttered slices of white or whole-wheat bread. Makes 8 full-size sandwiches.

SANDWICH SUGGESTIONS

Combine ½ cup peanut butter, 2 tbsp. mayonnaise and 1 cup grated raw carrot. Use to fill 6 full-size whole-wheat sandwiches.

Mix 1 cup minced celery and ¼ cup chopped stuffed olives with enough mayonnaise to spread. Use to fill 8 full-size whole-wheat sandwiches.

Mix 2-3 cup sieved baked beans, 2 tbsp. minced sweet or sour gherkins and 2 tbsp. minced canned pimento with 2 tbsp. mayonnaise to make a smooth paste. Serve on white bread. Makes 8 full-size sandwiches. Boston brown bread or rye bread may be substituted for the white bread.

Chop 1 medium scraped carrot, 1 medium tomato, 2 celery stalks and a small wedge-shaped piece of raw cabbage very fine. Season with mayonnaise. Drain and use to fill 10-full-sized sandwiches.

PEANUT BUTTER BROWNIES

¼ cup shortening
¼ cup peanut butter
1 cup sugar 2 eggs, beaten
2 sq. (2 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
½ cup sifted cake flour
½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
½ cup chopped nuts or seedless raisins Powdered sugar

Work the shortening with a spoon until fluffy and creamy, then add the sugar gradually, while continuing to work with a spoon until light. Add eggs and the melted chocolate. Mix and sift the flour, baking powder, and salt, and add, with the nuts. Turn into a greased or oiled pan 8 x 8 x 2 inches and bake in a moderate oven of 350 deg. F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Immediately cut into squares of about 2 inches with a sharp knife and sprinkle with powdered sugar. Makes about 16 squares.

Fashion

TUCKED BOSOM and lace-tagoted "jewel" neckline add exquisite detail to this rayon satin blouse so perfect under a suit jacket for the elegant feminine touch to dark garments. A Yolande design, it is especially fashioned to focus attention on the throat where most of the fashion drama is written this season.—R. M.

Details of Dinner To Minister

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
In two or three weeks a dear friend of mine (who has an executive position in our church school), the assistant minister of our church and I are planning to go to a nearby large city for dinner and the theater. The assistant minister is to be our guest. We are going to dine in a medium-size restaurant where she and I have dined several times together. In this circumstance, would the minister say grace, or would it be better to say it silently, if at all? And, also, would it be proper for us to order wine with our dinner? M. L.

Since the minister is to be your guest on this occasion, the proper and gracious thing for you is to ask his advice concerning the saying of grace (I imagine that he will suggest that it be said silently), and his preference as to the ordering of wine. Don't have the slightest hesitation about consulting him, for he will respect your questions and be grateful.

* * *

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:
A widower who has always been on most friendly terms with his wife's family is to remarry. Is it correct for him to send them an announcement of his second marriage? C. B. H.

Yes . . . unless (as is proper, since he and they are friends) they were invited to the wedding. In any case, however, before the wedding, he should tell them, or write them if they live at a distance, of his plans to remarry. For it would definitely not be kind or considerate for him just to send them a formal announcement without having told them of his plans.

ON BEING "LIKED"

Maybe they are wonderful, these people who are so everlastlingly busy appraising themselves highly. But they would be more endearing and a lot more popular, if just once in a while they would toss off a gay bit of spontaneous enthusiasm for someone else.—MRS. BEECKMAN.

Must Make Up Her Mind

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I'm 20 years old and am wearing the ring of my present boy friend, and we hope to be married some day. Before I met this boy I had been going with a young man with whom I broke up due to a silly quarrel. I wouldn't make up with him, although he wanted to, so that ended it. He joined the service, and is now honorably discharged.

Since going with the second young man, the first one has tried to make up, but my fiance doesn't want me to have anything to do with him; he's afraid I still care for him. But I think I ought to go out with him just to test myself and see whether I still care for him before I marry the second young man. What is your opinion? D. S. R.

My advice is not to marry the young man whose ring you are wearing or anybody else, until you can definitely make up your mind as to which one you really love. It is my opinion you're more in love with love than either of these young men. From what you write me in your letter (all of which I'm not printing) I judge you're in the center of wedding preparations.

Marriage is not a flirtation under the auspices of the church or the law. It's a serious business. I think your present fiance would do well to let you go out with the first young man so you can make up your mind as to your real state of feelings. Don't marry in haste and repent at leisure.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

DON'T DO THIS! A well-bred girl never makes herself conspicuous by loud or boisterous talking or conduct in public. School girls who "cut up" on the street leave themselves and their school open to criticism.

Composite 'Look' Counts

By BETTINA BEDWELL

IT IS necessary for any girl who hopes to make a hit in the styles this fall to decide on the look before she gets going. For the whole business of suit, hat, blouse and so forth have to combine to make for one gorgeous look.

That's what fashion is this season. No hodgepodge of this and that picked at random is going to be successful in particular circles. You can be very personal looking, like you would be in the Jo Copeland suit sketched. This suit has a brown wool jacket modernized from a cavalier jacket, and it is bordered with black braid and trimmed with buttons.

The slim skirt is black and the blouse of beige, brown and black satin. The brown felt breton has a black velvet bandeau. The whole thing is stunning.

Hurley Pledges Bonus Speedup

State Treasurer John E. Hurley announced today that payment of the state veterans' bonus would be speeded considerably as a result of the appointment of 55 new assistants in the bonus division and installation of a microfilm camera.

The camera will be used to process discharge papers which veterans complained were being kept as long as seven weeks.

The treasurer's announcement of speedup plans followed protests by veterans, the American Legion and VFW, and disclosure that the bonus division had mailed out only 5033 checks although it had received more than 60,000 bonus applications.

Answer to Charge That The GI Is 'Anti-Labor'

By AUSTEN LAKE

COLLIER'S CURRENT ISSUE makes a peculiar case against what it labels the "G. I.'s anti-labor attitude," in which it would appear that the returning veteran is aggressively opposed to labor's "soft sinecure" and "lush wages" during the war. Also Philip Murray, president of the CIO is quoted: "Labor cannot get its story presented fairly and properly." The article is authored by Stanley Frank, who was a fellow correspondent with this writer during the days before the Normandy breakthrough.

Austen Lake

I did not find the GI "anti-labor" at any time during the time I spent with the combat troops. Anti-strike—yes. But NOT anti-labor. I've talked with thousands—yes THOUSANDS of soldiers in the European theater and they break into three categories: (1) Those with jobs to return to, (2) Those with skills or experience and no jobs and (3) Those with neither jobs nor skills. The last group is mainly formed of ex-school and college men. But the first two were affiliated with labor in one form or another and thus sympathetic with its problems.

Is This "Fair Presentation"?

THE OVERSEA GI IS AWARE that labor did a grand job. He had visual, constant proof of it in the vast quantities of stuff that he handled or saw. American equipment, in quality and quantity, was the best. The volume of material that the GI observed rolling interminably before his eyes was both awesome and overpowering.

But the occasional strike stories—mostly "wildcat," which he read about in the news, griped and irritated him no end. He DID bellyache about that. And well he might! But he blamed, NOT labor, but the minority of radical agitators which had infiltrated into some unions for self-seeking ends. If that is an "anti-labor attitude" the majority of Americans feel the same.

When Philip Murray remarks that "Labor cannot get its story presented fairly and properly," Murray (1) is not qualified to speak for Labor as a whole but only for his own wing and his own interests, and (2) he implies that certain agencies, obviously the press, have smothered the facts. As one newsman who has covered the sit-down and slow-down strikes of the United Auto Workers during the formative period of the CIO, I had occasion to observe such news presentation and found it MORE than fair.

Let's examine the presentation of Stanley Frank's story and see whether that is any fairer. He states that the GI is "convinced that all war workers were earning $150 a week, every week," and that "a strike was called every time a dizzy dame was addressed harshly by the foreman for wearing a cozy red sweater." Then he says: "War Labor Board statistics show that 14,000,000 war workers averaged only 70 cents an hour in March, 1945," which would make it appear that war workers averaged $28.00 a week. I don't know where Stanley dug that figure up, but it doesn't jibe with the official figure by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics which shows that during the peak war production month of May, 1945, the average weekly wage for all U. S. industrial workers was $46.03. In July, 1945, it was $45.42. That means EVERYBODY in industry, men, women and children. So Frank's presentation cannot be deemed either "fair or proper."

I wrote from France, "The GI Joe doesn't brood over problems of trade unionism, or industrial competition, or bickerings between labor and management. He and his mates see the America of free enterprise and plenty they left. Not one of these boys regards the U. S. A. as a community Christmas tree loaded with free gifts, announced yesterday.

They expect work and an honest job of their own choosing.

"They are not, as a body, men who attempt to analyze the mysteries of national economy, or fluid wealth. All they know is they left jobs or school when they were on the threshold of productive life and they want it all back—or something better. And they have a blind, almost credulous faith that it will be waiting."

The GI Is Pro-Labor

AND AGAIN I WROTE FROM EUROPE during the critical period, "There's nothing complex about these men whose minds have been bleached by time, distance and circumstance of political partisanship, of racial jealousies, of labor quarrels and religious bigotry. They are concerned now with the basic elements of living — its bare simplicities. Their bitterness will be pretty terrible if they come back to non-existent jobs or absentee opportunities. Some of these men are out there in the flash-stabbed darkness, getting ready to smash the huge lock that will open the door to their future—and yours. God grant they all come home—to fulfilled dreams!"

That goes today as when I wrote it! The GIs, as a potential part of American labor, are pro-labor, and pro-opportunity, and pro-jobs. And they're anti any agency which frustrates or thwarts them from obtaining same, including that arbitrary wing of minority unionism which willfully blockades the normal surge of reconversion and broad opportunities for what Philip Murray glibly calls "increased consumer capacities" and "broadened industrial production." You can't eat words!

As one who lived with the combat GI under his tortured conditions I think I can interpret his state of mind as fairly as anyone. And I say he is pro-labor, quite the opposite of "anti," just as every other reasonable-minded U. S. citizen is pro-labor—except toward the activist, coersive minority who are willing to sacrifice the national common weal for premature, selfish, temporary advantage, including the headstrong "wildcatters" whom even their own unions cannot control. The great majority of honest, fair-minded labor is also against that rabid clque and would you say that the bulk of unonized labor has what Philip Murray calls "an anti-labor attitude?" If so, that's a "fair and proper presentation" of the GI attitude, too.

Detroit Favored to Win Over Cubs in Final Tilt

By JOE CASHMAN

CHICAGO, Oct. 10—The seventh, final and deciding fall of a World Series which has vividly demonstrated why it is called the "Fall Classic" comes this afternoon at Wrigley Field.

There'll be some 40,000 customers—possibly the first sell-out crowd at a seventh game—draped around the ringside to watch the Cubs and Tigers grapple for the richest jackpot in series history.

Hal Newhouser

The Tigers have proven by far the more adept at the art of falling but the odds are that the Cubs will finish up with their shoulders on the canvas.

Hal "Lefty" Newhouser is a 2-3 favorite to pin "Hank" Borowy down to defeat.

Each has a fall over the other to his credit, Borowy also boasts a decision over "Dizzy" Trout. If "Hank" can upset the dope and win this one, the best that American Leaguers will wish Larry the Red MacPhail is that he take a heavier fall than have Tigers "Chuck" Hostetler, Eddie Mayo, "Doc" Cramer and Rudy York and that he suffer nothing less serious than a broken leg.

For Borowy wouldn't be present to pester the junior leaguers if MacPhail hadn't decided that his New York Yankees could use $100,000 of Phil Wrigley's money to better advantage than they could use the pitching arm of the old Fordham ace.

Win or lose, Borowy is going to get himself into the record books today.

If he wins, he'll equal the 3-1 mound cards turned in by Bill Dineen in 1903, Joe Wood in 1912 and Urban Faber in 1918, only pitchers who ever were winners or losers in as many as four games in one series.

If he loses, he'll own the only 2-2 tally in series history.

And either way, providing victory or defeat is his, he'll be the first pitcher ever to be held accountable for three successive World Series games.

Save for the game Claude Passeau won by pitching one-hit ball as he gave the greatest flinging exhibition in series annals, there hasn't been a tilt won. They've all been lost.

The Tigers had only to hold their feet to win four out of five.

The Cubs had only to refrain from walking humpty-dumpty hitters and issue intentional walks to the Greenbergs, Cullenbines, and Yorks, to win four in a row.

After what has transpired, nobody will hazard a guess as to what will happen today.

As one wit put it:

"Maybe they won't show, up, and they shouldn't."

Of course, they will show up.

Braves Seek Marty Marion

By JOE CASHMAN

CHICAGO—Gen. Mgr. Eddie Collins of the Red Sox came out of World Series hiding at the 11th hour to announce that catcher Hal Wagner was discharged by the Army a week ago and that catcher Bill Holm had been sold to the Portland club of the Pacific Coast League.

The Braves' quartet of owners, Louis Perini, Joe Maney and Guido Rugo and Gen. Mgr. John Quinn have been busy denying rumors.

The owners say they have no intention of getting rind of young Quinn and getting a new G. M. A story from Detroit had said that Bill Terry, ex-manager of the Giants, was going to the Tribe's front office.

They also say they aren't considering Terry as playing manager.

In fact, they haven't admitted that Del Bissonette is through as pilot, but they don't deny it, either, and it is being taken for granted.

"Gabby" Hartnett, who steered the Cubs to the pennant in '38, is around hoping he'll get the job.

"Bucky" Harris is another who would like to grab the berth. He, too, has won pennants.

Right at the moment, though, the Braves' bosses are more interested in talking to Owner Breadon of the Cardinals than they are in choosing a new manager.

It's rumored that Breadon will put Marty (Mister Shortstop) Marion and first-sacker Ray Sanders on the auction block this winter.

Breadon has a world's championship club returning from wars. He thinks the Cards are a cinch to win next year even without Marion and Sanders. So he's willing to cash in on these two stars. Or, at least, that's the story.

Services for Yacht Editor on Friday

Funeral services will be held Friday in Marblehead for Edward Earle, 55, national known yachting editor and sports writer of the Boston Herald.

The "Skipper," as he was known to thousands, died in his sleep of a heart attack yesterday. He was unaware that he was to be guest of honor at a testimonial dinner next Monday night. Hundreds of yachtsmen had planned to attend the dinner at the Boston Yacht Club.

Scrimmages Planned For Maine Squad

ORONO, Me., Oct. 10 (AP)—Scrimmage today and tomorrow was on schedule for the University of Maine football candidates, forced by rain yesterday to practice in the field house in preparation for their opening contest here with Rhode Island State next Saturday.

Bulletin

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (INS)—The air was crisp and cool and the sun was shining brightly this morning for the seventh and deciding game of the World Series between the Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers.

The temperature was in the 50's. The weatherman, however, forecast a rising temperature as the day progressed.

Ross Awaits Dutch Line

QUEBEC CITY, Que., Oct. 10—The Dutch Treat line of Bobby Bauer, Milt Schmidt and Woody Dumart from right wing to left was not included in reunion of the Boston Bruins here yesterday afternoon when Foreman A. H. Ross and A. S. Ross, some two dozen hockey players and a group of Hub newspapermen arrived for the commencement of a two-week conditioning period. It was learned that the high-octane threesome of other seasons, all recently discharged from the RCAF, were given permission to spend a few more days at their Kitchener, Ont., homes. They're due here Thursday and will start work immediately as a unit. Manager Ross muffled a report that Schmidt and Dumart, grown bulky, would be turned into a defense team.

HOCKEY NOTES

Flash Hollett sold his farm and purchased a $15,000 Toronto home . . . The Rosses, Jack Crawford and four newspaper men had an unusual experience Monday night en route here when their airliner couldn't get down at the Quebec field on the flight from Montreal . . . Young Ross, called "Lindy" by Crawford, confessed yesterday that the situation involved considerable peril because a less-matured aviator than Pilot Marcel Voisvert might have tried to "split" the fog that concealed Quebec City and wound up against somebody's Empire State Building . . . Boisvert wisely turned back, prolonging a scheduled 147-mile trip, which should have taken 50 minutes into an eerie cruise of 294 miles spread over some 2½ hours. Twice Boisvert dropped to within 200 feet of the landing strip and couldn't find it. 200 feet over Quebec City, however, is much more pleasant than six feet under it.

Army Squad Drills On Michigan Plays

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 9 squad worked out against Michigan formations staged by the "B" eleven today as the cadets prepared for their meeting with the Wolverines in the Yankee Stadium Saturday.

End Coach Stu Holcomb, who scouted the midwesterners in two of their contests, took charge of the red-jacketed Bees. They furnished spirited opposition throughout the drill.

PASSEAU MAY BE DONE

Claude (Mr. Chips) Passeau, who did his share of Tiger taming, still has his pitching elbow loaded with bone splinters despite an early season operation. But the square-jawed veteran pitcher will keep rattling those chips next season. Surgery will leave him with a stiff arm, doctors tell Claude.

COLEY WELCH, New England middleweight champion, will be handled by Harry Kelley when he clashes with Popeye Woods of New York in a 10-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden on Friday night . . . Chick Hayes will also be in Welch's corner.

Kelley knows Welch's ring capabilities as he was in Henry Chemel's corner during the latter's tussles with the Portland title holder . . . Kelley makes no secret of the fact he intends to have Welch carry the fight to Popeye from the opening gong.

Coley Welch

"Popeye is a smart boxer who likes to set his own pace," said Kelley . . . "Welch will crowd Popeye and keep him so busy defending himself that he will not have any opportunities to score with solid punches."

Welch was with Kelley as the latter talked . . . Coley appears to be in fine physical condition . . . He is confident he will win from Popeye and secure a match with Jake LaMotta.

Racketeers Cash in Handsomely on Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (INS)—Chiseling struck a new all-time high in Chicago today.

World Series ticket scalpers were on the loose by the hundreds. Parking lots were getting up to $2 around Wrigley Field from car owners. Householders with upper windows overlooking the scene of the seventh game were renting bedroom space at fancy prices.

And the rabid fans apparently loved it. Anyway they weren't hesitant about reaching in their jeans for their dough. They not only got you going into the field, but they hooked you coming out.

Pennants emblazoning the names of the Chicago Cubs and the Detroit Tigers were hawked after the game at anything the eager salesmen could get. First asking price for a pennant is one buck. If you're good at bargaining you can get one for 75 cents.

And if you're a, super-special barterer the hawk-eyed pennanteer will reluctantly shove one at you for 50 cents, meanwhile muttering at you something that sounds like "Cheap-skate, that's what it cost me."

ing $50 or better for a $7.20 box seat for today's game and $25 or more for a $6 grandstand seat.

Such a business, and it is reported to have been munificent throughout the series, is in violation of a state law, carrying a $5000 fine.

A few scalpers have been picked up by police. Still fewer have been fined. Some $10, some $25. Others have had their cases continued.

Heavy BCH Team Unbeaten

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Boston College High School has picked up a brand new deck of cards, given them a complete shuffle and from all appearances, the Eaglets are jumping into a new era—one that will even include a new school building, replacing the ancient plant on St. Botolph st.

The first round has a U. S. Navy specialist, awaiting discharge, to take over as football coach.

This past summer, Coach Clem McCann—who did very well for the Maroon and Gold—resigned to take ver as assistant at Brookline. This left the football, hockey and baseball berths vacant. Then, Coach Jimmy Cassell followed suit in giving up the basketball assignment.

The twin resignations sent Rev. Robert Tobin, S.J., scurrying, but he drew two cards—and it looks as though he came up with a pair of aces.

The second round has Johnnie Temple moving in as hockey coach—this winter—with the football mentor picking up baseball and basketball.

Right now, Joe Moran, BCH '43 and a Marine Corps veteran of Iwa Jima, and Bobby Owens are directing the team. They've concentrated on the single wing and they've found it highly successful (gainst Cambridge Latin, 44-0, and Lawrence, 27-7). They move to Portland, Me., to meet Cheverus High tomorrow night, and, incidentally, 9000 tickets have already been sold for this clash.

The Eagles have one of the biggest teams in the history of the school. The line averages over 190 while the backfield, clicking at a little bit better than 170, will pick up poundage as veteran Bernie Mulligan rounds into top condition.

Mulligan, at 166, is one of three regulars from the 1944 Eaglets. He worked last fall with Walt Murphy, 168-pound baseball captain, and Capt. Jack Casey, 178, a very serious threat for an all-scholastic berth. Charlie Brown, 170-pound junior moving up from the subs, calls the plays. Casey handles the punting while Murphy does the pitching.

BCH's top weight in the line is concentrated at the tackles, both veterans. George Foley, only a soph, hits 215 pounds while Bill Morris goes 204. The centers and guards center of the line is packed with 195-pounders—John Cattaneo, a veteran George Murray, a newcomer in his first full season of football and Joe Capranella, another greenhorn.

Starting ends are Bob Clifford, 160 and captain of the track team, and Dan Lyons, 175-pounder up from the subs of last season. Lyons has been out of practise with a knee injury so that Tom Hewes, 155, has been filling in this other wing.

Spares are headed by hockey captain (all sports represented but basketball) Warren Lewis, who has been working with Bob Keith and John Gibbons at center. Guards include John Sweeney, Herb Koelch, John Kelly, Ed Carroll, Arthur Evans, Joe Shea; tackles, Bob Kelly, John Rickerts, John Garrihan; ends, Joe McKenney (son of Boston Phys Ed dictator), Ed Mee, Charlie Hunter, Bob Clifford; backs, Dave Sullivan, John Linehan, Ed Hartnett, Joe Petrocelli, John Shine and Dick Fallon.

Managers John Whelton and Tom Mellis insist that the team will go undefeated through its schedule at Braves Field, which will find Latin (Oct. 19), Trade (Oct. 25), Boston Technical (Nov. 1), English (Nov. 9), Commerce (Nov. 15) and Roxbury Memorial (Nov. 21) stepping up in order.

Blind Soldier Two Above Par

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa., Oct. 10 (AP)—Sgt. Lewis Moore, blinded war veteran of Gadsen, Ala., carded a 39, two above par for the nine-hole Meadowbrook Country Club course here, to defeat 11 other blind GI's yesterday in a golf tournament at the Army's Valley Forge General Hospital.

Hospital aides who taught the servicemen to play golf acted as guides during the tournament.

Purple Points For Villanova

WORCESTER, Oct. 10 (INS)—Holy Cross gridders, rated the best in New England, were being assayed on the basis of victories over Dartmouth and Yale as contenders for Eastern championship honors.

Aided by breaks, the Cross triumphed 13 to 6 over a surprisingly stalwart Big Green and then trounced Yale, 21 to 0, in the Bowl last Saturday.

The next obstacle in the Crusaders' path is Villanova, which pays a visit to Fitton Field Sunday.

The Wildcat scout, who saw last Saturday's game, went away from New Haven talking to himself and no doubt is seeing the Holy Cross powerhouse backfield of Capt. Stan Koslowski, Veto Kissell, Joe Byers and Steve Conroy in his dreams.

Coach John "Ox" Dagrossa has built his single wing with variations of attack around the starring Koslowski, but the ex-marine receives plenty of support from Byers and Kissell. Capt. Stan can run, kick and if any doubted his ability as a passer, this doubt was kicked out the window when the big blond threw a neat 50-yard toss for a score in the Yale Bowl.

Byers, too, does not rest his laurels on his running game alone. His right arm also is a proven threat. This 165-pounder from Philadelphia tossed the pass to his captain for the third Crusader score last week-end.

Steelers Add Four To Gridiron Roster

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 (AP)—The victory-starved Pittsburgh Steelers, who haven't won a National League football game for two years, brought in re reinforcements today in an attempt to halt a 13-game losing streak.

Reporting to the Hershey Pa., camp here four new gridders, right halfback Art Van Tone, bought outright fro mthe Detroit Lions, appeared to be the best prospect.

Another player who faced the Steelers last year and is now shifting to the locals is center Vernon Foltz of Greensburg. The other two new Steelers are Ed McNamara, 265-pound Holy Cross tackle, secured from the New York Giants, and Buist Warren, a Tennessee halfback, released by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Attendance Mark to Go

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (INS)—The existing World Series attendance mark was certain to be shattered by the expected capacity crowd at Wrigley Field today.

The present record was set by the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1926 classic, when the teams played before a total of 328,051 fans in seven games.

The present Chicago Cubs-Detroit Tigers clash has seen an attendance of 291,867 for the first six games. Thus, with an expected capacity attendance of 44,000 for today's game, a patronage of only 36,185 would set a new mark.

Anzio Beach Vet At Fullback for BC

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Al "Tuck" Twomey was No. 2 center on BC's 1941 football team, behind all-America Fred Naumetz. Returning to college this season after three years in the Army, he's played end and center. Friday afternoon, when BC tangles with New York U. at Fenway Park, he's expected to start at fullback.

Twomey enlisted in Jan. 1942. He participated in the invasions of Africa, Sicily and Italy. In Italy he was in on both the Salerno and Anzio invasions and "Anzio was the worst. We were pinned on the beachhead for three months."

Twomey is a top-notch center, perhaps the best in this area, but Capt. George Donelan is doing well at the post so Twomey goes wherever he's needed most. Before John Graham and Sal Del Prete showed improvement at the ends, Twomey played there.

Now that fullbacks John Queenan and Gene Nash are sidelined with injuries, Twomey again is stepping into the breach. He's 195 pounds of dynamite, and punts exceptionally well for one who spent most of his football life on the line.

Injuries, incidentally, are keeping Coach Sarno awake nights. Not that NYU is any grid power; simply that it's hard to get a team rolling with seven or 10 men absent from practice each day. And BC needs work.

All of them won't miss the NYU game but Longval, who suffered a concussion on the first kickoff of the Brown game, has been forbidden to play by Dr. Ben Godvin, and Cronin may be through for the season. The young quarterback injured the ankle that was broken a year ago and BC doesn't intend to jeopardize his physical well-being. Queenan and Nash also seem definitely out of this week's game, so that is the reason for the Twomey shift.

BC took a drubbing at Brown but "Quinn and Giordano played well all afternoon," said line coach Al Fiorentino. They are tackles. Del Prete was used at end "just because he comes from Providence," but surprised the coaches with his stellar play. He may start against NYU . . . Steve Stuka, a naval aviation cadet until recently, is pressing Jim McMorrow for the No. 1 signal caller's job . . . BC wishes it known that the NYU game will be played at Fenway Park, Friday afternoon, starting at 2 p. m. The game was originally scheduled for night . . . Fred Nedvins, a guard on Denny Myers' 1941 squad, is back at BC after serving as a navigator on a bomber. He stands 5-11, weighs 210 and will help out at the guard post if he can find a helmet big enough for him. He was kept out of Tuesday's scrimmage because none on the field would fit him . . . Another new lineman at BC is Pete Prezkop, who also was on the 1941 squad. He's been in the Army . . . Said Tom Carney to Fran Collins when the latter twisted his ankle: "Let's take your shoes; you won't be needing them" . . . After the NYU game, BC will be idle until it faces King's Point Merchant Marine Academy on Long Island, Oct. 27 . . . Herb McKenley has written friends at BC that he is enrolled at U. of Illinois and will run for that institution during the winter.

Navy, Tony Madeiros, Don Heinecke of Baltimore, Tarzan Brown and many other outstanding distance runners. This race was sanctioned by the N. E. A. A. U. under the direction of Albert T. Hart.

Tomorrow and Friday afternoons harness horse racing will be held and many of the horses entered will be from Fall River, New Bedford, Taunton and Providence, ready to show their speed to the local fans against horses from other parts of New England.
